Overview

Brad Smith is an accomplished construction and business litigation attorney with experience representing clients in commercial construction disputes, complex business litigation, contract disputes, and large-loss subrogation matters. Clients appreciate Brad's aggressive but strategic approach to litigation and his focus on finding both effective and efficient ways to resolve cases. Brad's ability to communicate and simplify complex legal issues allows him to advise clients with thoughtful and concise legal solutions, risk analysis, and litigation strategy.

Brad has represented both plaintiff and defendant in state and federal courts across the country, providing him with the depth of knowledge and experience that make him a reliable and trusted advisor to his clients. Brad has successfully represented clients in matters varying from small to bet-the-company litigation and has recovered in excess of $13 million for his clients in large-loss subrogation matters throughout the United States.

Outside of work Brad likes to restore old cars, tackle home improvement projects, attend live music concerts, and spend quality time with his family.
