Overview

Lauren Ferrie is a litigation attorney based in the firm's Dallas office. Her practice focuses on representing clients in construction and commercial disputes. Lauren is committed to a client-centered approach, prioritizing clear communication and collaboration to develop practical, results-driven strategies at every stage of the litigation process.

Lauren earned her Juris Doctor from SMU Dedman School of Law. Prior to joining Griffith Davison, Lauren practiced in insurance coverage, where she developed foundational litigation skills and gained experience analyzing complex claims and coverage issues. This background informs her approach to litigation, allowing her to anticipate risk and advocate effectively on behalf of her clients.

Outside of work, Lauren enjoys cooking, traveling, staying active, and spending time with her dog, Winston.
